ROLL OF HONOUR.

THIS Roll of Honour, arranged in sections, contains the names of those members of the New Zealand Expeditionary Force who gave up their lives in the Great War, 1914–18.

Section I.—Killed in action, or died from wounds inflicted, accident occurring, or disease contracted while on active service.

Section II.—Died after discharge from the New Zealand Expeditionary Force from wounds inflicted or disease contracted while on active service.

Section III.—Died from accident occurring, or disease contracted, while training with or attached to the New Zealand Expeditionary Forces in New Zealand.

INTRODUCTION.

During the Great War New Zealand raised for service overseas in the cause of freedom 110,368 troops, of which number 100,444 actually proceeded overseas for service. This book contains the names of those who were killed in action, died of wounds inflicted, or disease contracted while on active service, and of those who died from accident occurring, or disease contracted, while training with the New Zealand Expeditionary Forces in New Zealand. The number of deaths overseas was 16,697, or 16.62 per cent. of the number embarked; the number of deaths, including those who died after discharge from disabilities due to or aggravated by war service (up to the 31st December, 1923), was 17,661, or 17.58 per cent. of those embarked; while the total deaths, including those who died while undergoing training in New Zealand, was 18,166, or 16.46 per cent. of the total troops enlisted, for overseas service.

OVERSEAS GRAVES.

The graves of those buried in France, Belgium, Germany, Gallipoli, Egypt, Palestine, Malta, Gibraltar, United Kingdom, and other overseas places are being cared for by the Imperial War Graves Commission, which since the cessation of hostilities has been engaged in the work of construction of cemeteries and the erection of a universal design of headstone over each grave.

The best method of treating the graves received the very earnest consideration of the Commission, and it was decided that plain headstones should mark the graves of all ranks, so that general and private rest side by side beneath the same simple stones, equal in honour of their death for duty's sake. The headstones measure 2 ft. 6 in. high, I ft. 3 in. wide, and 3 in. thick, and on their surface is engraved the cross or other religious symbol of the dead man's faith, and his regimental badge, together with the usual particulars of regimental number, name, and regiment.

A special feature of the Commission's work is the horticultural treatment of the cemeteries, which, by reason of the excellence of the gardening, have been made truly British, and places of real beauty.

The staff of the War Graves Commission has searched and researched the battle areas in which so many gallant men fell and were buried, and has completed, as far as possible, the work of exhumation and reinterment in central cemeteries for the various battle areas, each reinterment being reverently carried out in the presence of an Army Chaplain. Exhumations are still being carried out, however, upon reports to the War Graves Commission by local authorities of remains discovered by reconstruction parties, &c., or from indications supplied by relatives in cases where comrades have been able to supply map references leading to identification of burial-places.

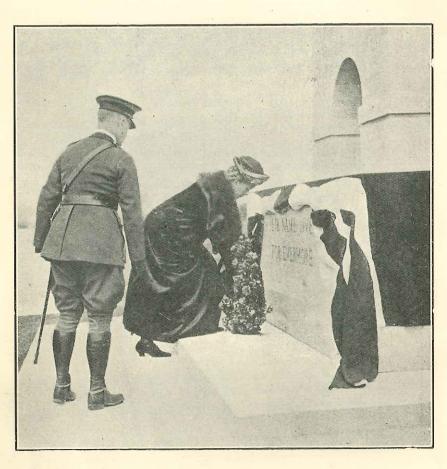

During the war burials on the battlefields were carried out under the greatest difficulties, and the graves were hastily marked with whatever material was readily available, the marking of the graves with the simple wooden crosses being carried out later by the Graves Registration Unit from map references indicating the locations of the graves. Unfortunately, subsequent battle operations over the same localities destroyed all markings and traces of a large number of graves, thereby greatly increasing the list of men for whom no confirmed burial reports have been received.

Of 12,483 killed or died as the result of operations in France and Belgium, 8,256 graves have been identified and 4,227 remain unlocated; and of 2,721 deaths resulting from the Gallipoli Campaign, 1,037 graves are known and 1,684 are unlocated; while of 381 deaths due to the Palestine and Sinai Campaign 61 graves remain unlocated (see footnote).*

The headstones erected over the graves of known soldiers are inscribed with the words "New Zealand" and the regimental number,

- WAR BRAVES DIVISION

^{*} These are the figures as at 31st December, 1923, and are subject to alteration as further graves may be located.

rank, name, regiment, date of death, and age of the soldier, and the fern-leaf emblem; while on the headstone erected over each "unknown" grave, in which rest the remains of an unidentified New Zealand soldier, are inscribed the words (by Rudyard Kipling)—

IN MEMORY OF A NEW ZEALAND SOLDIER KNOWN UNTO GOD.

To honour the memory of those whose graves have not been located, memorials to the missing are being erected in selected cemeteries in the various theatres of war, each memorial bearing the names of the missing in the area represented by the memorial. It is anticipated that these memorials to the missing will be completed by the end of 1925.

In each concentrated cemetery is also erected a monument designated the "Great War Cross," or "Cross of Sacrifice," with the Crusader's sword engraved upon it—a striking memorial to those who took up the fight for freedom and who paid the supreme sacrifice, their work finished, as represented by the sword being hung up.

In each concentrated cemetery there is also erected "The Great War Stone" (also known as "The Altar of Duty" and "The Stone of Remembrance"). This memorial, as its name implies, is in the shape of an altar, and is placed, where circumstances permit, on the eastern side of each cemetery, and the graves lie before it facing it, as the Army faced during the war. It has the character of permanence as much as any work of man can hope for, and meets the majority of forms of religious feeling. To some it is a Memorial Stone such as those of which we read in the Old Testament, while to others it is an Altar—one of the most ancient and general of religious symbols—and will serve as the centre of religious services.

Each Great War Stone bears the inscription in indelible lettering—

"Their name liveth for evermore."

In May, 1922, His Majesty the King made a pilgrimage to visit the tombs in Belgium and France of his comrades who gave up their lives in the Great War. Standing at the Cross of Sacrifice, and facing the Stone of Remembrance in the Cemetery of Terlincthun, which looks over the English Channel (the Stone of Remembrance facing towards home, and the Cross of Sacrifice, bearing its great bronze sword, looking towards the old enemy lines), the King, who was accompanied by the Queen and by Admiral the Earl Beatty and Field-Marshal the Earl Haig (representing the Navy, Army, and Air Force), and by General de Castelnau (representing the French Army), delivered the following message to his people over all the seas, in the name of the Queen and of himself:—

"For the past few days I have been on a solemn pilgrimage in honour of a people who died for all free men.

"At the close of that pilgrimage, on which I followed ways already marked by many footsteps of love and pride and grief, I should like to send a message to all who have lost those dear to them in the Great War, and in this the Queen joins me to-day, amidst these surroundings so wonderfully typical of that single-hearted assembly of nations and of races which form our Empire. For here, in their last quarters, lie sons of every portion of that Empire, across, as it were, the threshold of the Mother Island which they guarded that Freedom might be saved in the uttermost ends of the earth.

"For this a generation of our manhood offered itself without question, and almost without the need of a summons. Those proofs of virtue, which we honour here to-day, are to be found throughout the world and its waters—since we can truly say that the whole circuit of the earth is girdled with the graves of our dead. Beyond the stately cemeteries of France, across Italy, through eastern Europe in well-nigh unbroken chain they stretch, passing over the holy mount of Olives itself to the farthest shores of the Indian and Pacific Oceans—from Zeebrugge to Coronel, from Dunkirk to the hidden wildernesses of East Africa.

"But in this fair land of France, which sustained the utmost fury of the long strife, our brothers are numbered, alas! by hundreds of thousands. They lie in the keeping of a tried and generous friend, a resolute and chivalrous comrade-in-arms, who with ready and quick sympathy has set aside for ever the soil in which they sleep, so that we ourselves and our descendants may for all time reverently tend and preserve their resting-places. And here, at Terlincthun, the shadow of his monument falling almost across their graves, the greatest of French soldiers—of all soldiers—stands guard over them. And this is just, for, side by side with the descendants of his incomparable armies, they defended his land in defending their own.

"Never before in history have a people thus dedicated and maintained individual memorials to their fallen, and in the course of my pilgrimage I have many times asked myself whether there can be more potent advocates of peace upon earth through the years to come than this massed multitude of silent witnesses to the desolation of war. And I feel that, so long as we have faith in God's purposes, we cannot but believe that the existence of these visible memorials will, eventually, serve to draw all peoples together in sanity and self-control, even as it has already set the relations between our Empire and our Allies on the deep-rooted bases of a common heroism and a common agony.

"Standing beneath this Cross of Sacrifice, facing the great Stone of Remembrance, and compassed by these sternly simple headstones, we remember, and must charge our children to remember, that, as our dead were equal in sacrifice, so are they equal in honour, for the greatest and the least of them have proved that sacrifice and honour are no vain things, but truths by which the world lives.

"Many of the cemeteries I have visited in the remoter and still desolate districts of this sorely stricken land, where it has not yet been possible to replace the wooden crosses by headstones, have been made into beautiful gardens, which are lovingly cared for by comrades of the war. I rejoice I was fortunate enough to see these in the spring, when the returning pulse of the year tells of unbroken life that goes forward in the face of apparent loss and wreckage; and I fervently pray that, both as nations and individuals, we may so order our lives after the ideals for which our brethren died that we may be able to meet their gallant souls once more, humbly but unashamed."

Relatives who intend making the journey to see the resting-place of their loved ones can obtain from the Imperial War Graves Commission, through the Graves Registration Department of the High Commissioner's Office in London, all necessary particulars to enable them to locate the graves (where known), and every assistance is given by the staff of the War Graves Commission, while the British Red Cross Association and the Y.M.C.A. have organizations in the various battlefield areas for the purpose of assisting visitors in locating graves, and also as to the best means of travel and accommodation. Intending visitors should, before leaving New Zealand, communicate with the Secretary, N.Z.E.F. War Graves Committee, Internal Affairs Department, Wellington, to obtain particulars regarding grave locations. This will greatly facilitate their inquiries at the other end.

BURIED AT SEA.

The names of 416 members of the New Zealand Expeditionary Force who were buried at sea are to be commemorated on memorials as follows:—

- (a.) Soldiers who were buried at sea between the base in Egypt and Gallipoli, and Gallipoli and the base, and hospitals in the Mediterranean will be commemorated on the Memorial to the Missing in Lone Pine Cemetery, Anzac Area, Gallipoli.
- (b.) All other soldiers buried at sea between New Zealand and Egypt or Europe, and vice versa, will be commemorated on the provincial memorials to be erected in the military cemeteries at Auckland, Wellington, Christchurch, and Dunedin.
- (c.) In regard to those buried at sea en route from the base in Egypt to Salonika, the names will be commemorated on a memorial at Salonika.

The erection of these memorials will be proceeded with as soon as the permanent work in the various cemeteries is completed.

GRAVES IN NEW ZEALAND.

The graves of those who have died in New Zealand from causes due to or aggravated by war service are being treated as war graves in exactly the same manner as overseas graves. Where it was possible to do so, arrangements were made with the controlling authorities of cemeteries in New Zealand to set aside special areas for the burial of soldiers whose graves are deemed to be "war graves," and over these graves are being erected the universal headstones of the same design as those erected over graves in the battlefield cemeteries overseas.

In each military cemetery in New Zealand containing not less than fifty war graves will also be erected the "Great War Cross" and the "Great War Stone."

The completion of the work, both in New Zealand and overseas, will take some considerable time.

CEMETERY REGISTERS OF WAR GRAVES OF THE EMPIRE.

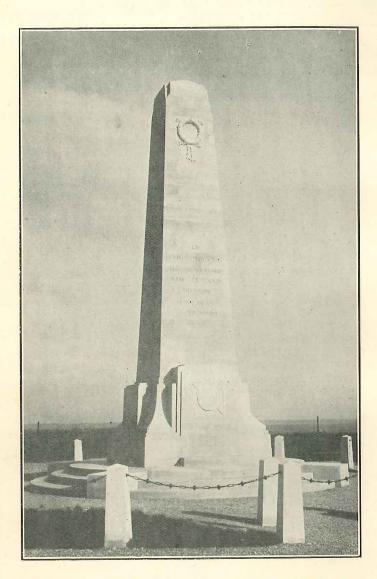

As the permanent work in each cemetery overseas is completed and certain particulars are gathered from each next-of-kin, the Imperial War Graves Commission is compiling cemetery registers of the war graves of the Empire, including the names of members of the Imperial, Indian, Canadian, Australian, South African, New Zealand, and Newfoundland Forces buried in each cemetery, giving brief particulars, including the names and addresses of next-of-kin, when known, of each soldier. These registers, as they are received in New Zealand, are being bound in suitable volumes applicable to the various battlefield areas, and can be seen at either the General Assembly Library, or the War Graves Division, Internal Affairs Department. When complete they will contain over one million names of heroes forming the "War Graves of the Empire," for it has been ascertained to July, 1923, that the total number of dead of the British Empire in the Great War was 1,019,268, distributed as follows:—

BATTLEFIELD MEMORIAL ERECTED AT LONGUEVAL TO COMMEMORATE THE BATTLE EXPLOITS OF THE NEW ZEALAND DIVISION AT THE SOMME.

BATTLEFIELD MEMORIALS.

To permanently commemorate the battle exploits of the New Zealand Expeditionary Forces the New Zealand Government decided to erect Battle Memorials at Longueval and Le Quesnoy in France, Messines and Gravenstafel in Flanders, on Gallipoli, and in Palestine. The erection of the memorials and the sites chosen have received the approval of the Imperial War Graves Commission and the consent of the Government on whose territory they are situate.

LONGUEVAL.

This, the first of the New Zealand Battle Exploit Memorials to be completed, stands on the site of the Switch Trench, and on the junction of the present roads from Longueval to Flers and to Courcelette, commemorating the attack commenced on the 15th September, 1916, and continued for twenty-three consecutive days. It takes the form of a column standing on a projecting base in which are four panels. On the front of the column itself are engraved the words "In Honour of the men of the New Zealand Division. First Battle of the Somme. 1916"; and the same is engraved in French at the back of the column. On the front panel is an exquisite sculptured design of Maori carving surrounding the words "New Zealand" and fern-leaf. On the back panel are engraved the words "New Zealand Division, Auckland, Wellington, Canterbury, Otago." On one side panel is engraved the following sentence: "The New Zealand Division, after gaining this position as their first objective, launched from it the successful attack on Flers, 15th September, 1916"; and these words are reproduced in French on the other side panel. At the base of the monument is engraved. in English and in French, the phrase "From the uttermost ends of the earth." The memorial was unveiled on Sunday, the 8th October, 1022. by the Hon. Sir Francis H. D. Bell, in the presence of a representative gathering.

LE QUESNOY.

The capture of Le Quesnoy will be remembered as one of the unique incidents of the war, and the placing of a New Zealand memorial here fittingly commemorates the deeds of valour by the New Zealand Division, and, more especially, the series of achievements which marked the great advance from Hebuterne to the Mormal Forest during the Battle of the Sambre in the final operations of the war.

The scaling of the walls of the historic old fortress by the New-Zealanders has been fully described in the various histories of the war, and the idea was conceived by Mr. S. Hurst Seager, the architect who was entrusted with the designing of our memorials and the super-intendence of their erection, that the incident formed a fitting subject for the commemoration by a large stone sculptured panel let into the ancient wall, representing the scaling, the scheme providing also that the ancient moat in front of the wall be laid out as a sunk garden, separated from the terrace garden, at a higher level from which the sculpture could be well seen.

In May, 1921, the High Commissioner (Sir James Allen) paid a visit to Le Quesnoy to inspect the locality and confer with the Mayor and Council to see whether the suggested scheme could be carried out. After viewing the ground and surroundings the scheme was approved, and it also received the warm approval of the Mayor and Councillors of the town.

A small model embodying the conception formed by Mr. Hurst Seager was prepared by Mr. A. R. Fraser, a New Zealand sculptor, and from this the sculptured panel was completed by M. Desruelles, an eminent French sculptor, to whom the work had been entrusted.

The photograph shown was taken from the full-size model prepared by M. Desruelles. It will be seen that, in addition to the incident of the scaling of the wall, there is a winged figure, symbolic of Victorious Peace, with a broken sword of war beneath her feet, and holding in her right hand the wreath of Victory, in her left the palm of Peace. On the left-hand foreground, among rough rockwork, is a small cross in memory of those who fell in action.

Surrounding the marble sculpture is a dark stonework, acting as a gradation in colouring from the brick of the wall to the marble, and on this is carved on one side the words "In Honour of the men of New Zealand through whose valour the town of Le Quesnoy was restored to France, 4th November, 1918," and on the other side the words in French, "En l'honneur des hommes de la Nouvelle-Zélande grace à la valeur desquels la ville de Le Quesnoy fut rendue a la France, le 4 Novembre, 1918." Over the English inscription is carved in low relief the fern-leaf, badge of the New-Zealanders, and over the French a wreath of oak-leaves and laurels surmounted by a crown—the crest of Le Quesnoy. To bring the position of the memorial into close relationship with the centre of the town—the Place d'Armes, which is the principal gathering-place of the citizens—an avenue, dedicated as an Avenue of Honour, and lined by beautiful trees, forms an appropriate route quite apart from the business part of the town. This avenue commences from an old archway in the Place d'Armes, upon which has been placed a tablet bearing the inscription "Le Jardin des Souvenirs New Zealand" in a circle which contains a fern-leaf. The avenue takes its pleasant course to a projecting salient of the walls near to the spot where the memorial is placed, and an archway has been cut through the wall to form an entrance to the Garden of Memory. The pathway then leads from the archway to an island directly opposite the sculptured panel, and upon which has been erected a balustrade at the same height as the sculpture in the wall across the moat, about 33 ft. distant. From this balustrade or terrace the beauty of the sculpture on the wall opposite is viewed. The balustrade itself has a simple squared low wall of polished marble and flooring of stone, and on each side is a bench of polished marble. On the inner side of the wall is the inscription-

"From the uttermost ends of the earth."

"De l'autre extrémité du monde."

The memorial was unveiled on the 15th July, 1923, by the Right Hon. Viscount Milner, K.G., after being dedicated by the Rev. M. Mullineux, M.C., ex Chaplain to the Forces.

MESSINES.

The memorial here is similar in design to that at Longueval, although the surroundings vary as required by the site. The memorial commemorates the capture of Messines by the New Zealand Division on the 7th June, 1917, and is situated on high ground on the outskirts of the town overlooking the roads to Ploegsteert and to Armentières. The site is an excellent one, overlooking the battlefield and the whole of the country which had been held for weeks before the attack. It is only about 300 yards from the Au Bon Fermier Cabaret, known to all New-Zealanders as a place of heavy fighting, and from it can be seen the Ploegsteert Road for its entire length, so that the memorial comes into view from a distance of a mile and a quarter along this road, while in the distance can be seen the historic Mount Kemmel.

Sufficient land has been acquired for a lay-out round the monument in terrace and garden. The following inscription, in English, French, and Flemish, appears on the memorial:—

IN HONOUR OF THE MEN OF THE NEW ZEALAND DIVISION.

THE BATTLE OF MESSINES, 7TH TO 14TH OF JUNE, 1917.

The New Zealand Division, on 7th June, 1917, captured this ridge and advanced 2,000 yards through Messines to their objective on the eastern side.

GRAVENSTAFEL.

The memorial here is at the Gravenstafel cross-roads, and marks the capture of Gravenstafel by the New-Zealanders on the 4th October, 1917, as part of a general advance towards Passchendaele. It is of similar design to those at Longueval and Messines, and can be easily seen from Passchendaele and from the high road at Zonnebeke—running from Ypres to Roulers.

On the memorial is inscribed the following words, in English, French, and Flemish:—

, and Flemish:—

IN HONOUR OF THE MEN OF THE NEW ZEALAND DIVISION.

THE BATTLE OF BROODSEINDE, 4TH OF OCTOBER, 1917.

This monument marks the site of Gravenstafel, which, on 4th October, 1917, was captured by the New Zealand Division as part of a general advance towards Passchendaele.

The phrase "In Honour of the Men of the New Zealand Division" is engraved on the shaft of the monument, and on the base, in English, French, and Flemish, the words "From the uttermost ends of the earth."

GALLIPOLI

The site chosen on Gallipoli is situate on the top of Chunuk Bair, and the memorial is visible from the sea on either side. The position is five miles and a half from the Narrows at the nearest point in the route of the steamers, while it is eight miles and a half from the position where steamers anchor, and can be easily seen from that distance. The site chosen is the spot which marks the most northern part of the area reached by our troops, and the spot where perhaps the most heroic New Zealand effort was made, for Chunuk Bair was taken and held by our troops for forty-eight hours in the face of a very determined resistance by a large Turkish force. How marvellous this performance was can only be fully realized by standing on the site itself and viewing the country up which our troops had to climb while fighting their way. The memorial can be reached by a motor road of approximately six miles from Kelia Bay, which would be the landingplace for those visiting the battlefields, and then a climb of about three-quarters of a mile to the summit, which is about 856 ft. high. The monument is in full view of all steamers passing to and from Constantinople for about five miles of the journey. It is a massive one, on the plan of a Greek Cross, is 50 ft. high, and is constructed of white Ulgan Dere stone backed with concrete. A tablet of white Nebresina marble is let into the south face, containing the inscription—

In Honour of the Soldiers of The New Zealand Expeditionary Force, 8th August, 1915.

From the uttermost ends of the earth.

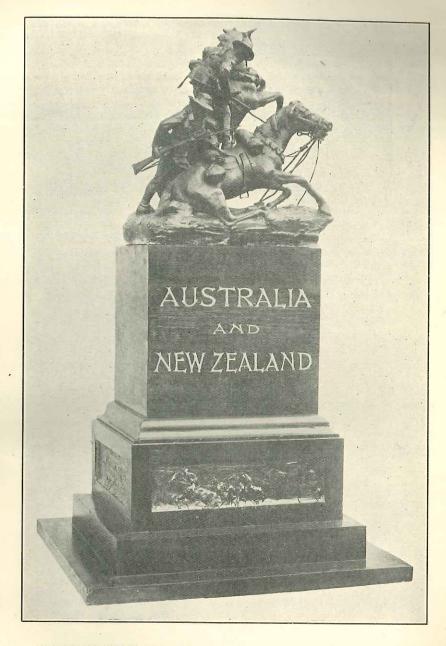

PALESTINE.

The site selected to commemorate the exploits of the New Zealand Mounted Brigade in Palestine is on the Mount of Olives, adjacent to the graves of the New-Zealanders. Application has been made for the site, but the matter has not yet been completed, and it cannot be decided what form the memorial will take until such time as the formal grant of the site can be obtained, and the architect can view the spot and its surroundings to formulate his ideas.

AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND MEMORIAL AT PORT SAID.

In addition to the above-described six memorials erected by the New Zealand Government, there has also been a memorial erected on the Suez Canal at Port Said to commemorate the Australian and New Zealand soldiers who laid down their lives in Egypt, Palestine, and Syria. The memorial was erected from funds subscribed by the troops in the field, and supplemented by the Commonwealth and New Zealand Governments.

The site chosen is in the Public Gardens immediately adjoining the well-known Casino Palace Hotel, and faces the quay near the entrance to the Suez Canal, so that the monument is clearly visible to passengers passing through the canal. The design chosen for the memorial is reproduced here, and shows a massive base and pedestal, supporting sculptured figures of two troopers and horses, typifying both Australian and New Zealand horsemen.

BRITISH NATIONAL WAR MEMORIAL AT CAPE HELLES.

A proposal is under action by the Imperial authorities for the erection of a British National War Memorial at Cape Helles to the memory of all those who took part in the Gallipoli campaign. The site selected is a magnificent one, on the bluff of Cape Helles, at the western end of the main channel followed by steamers in both approaching and leaving the Dardanelles, and is about 500 yards north-east of Cape Helles Lighthouse. The design and materials have not yet been decided upon, but it will probably be constructed of either Marmora or Greek white marble.

TABLETS IN FRENCH AND BELGIAN CATHEDRALS.

Tablets to the memory of the members of their Forces who fell in the Battles of the Somme have been erected in the Amiens Cathedral by the British, Canadian, Australian, South African, New Zealand, and Newfoundland Governments. The New Zealand tablet was unveiled on the 16th July, 1923, by Lord Liverpool, after which ceremony the visitors were addressed by the Bishop of Amiens.

"The walls of the ancient Cathedral," he said, "had that day abased themselves before the solemn manifestation of the friendship which united in the memory of their dead the ancient combatants who had fought for the defence of Liberty, Right, Justice, and of Civilization. Eternally they rested united, imperishably present to the memory of all whose who had for their suffering, for their martyrdom, the veneration which they merited.

"Monsieur le High Commissioner," said the Bishop, "you have wished that the flowers of France should entwine with your fern-leaves. If the names of your heroes are inscribed in our hearts, they are also in the heart of God. Our emotion is intense when we think of the efforts and the death of all our heroes. Our thoughts will always remain with them. Our gratitude will always guard their memory. Their names remain blessed."

The tablet is a simple marble one, bearing the following inscription, in English and in French:—

To the Glory of God and in Memory of those of the New Zealand Division who fell in the Battles of the Somme and in the Final Deliverance of this City.

In another part of the same cathedral is hung a New Zealand flag over a brass tablet bearing the inscription—

NEW ZEALAND FLAG, PRESENTED TO THE CITY OF AMIENS BY THE GOVERNMENT OF NEW ZEALAND, 1920.

The matter of the erection of tablets in certain cathedrals in France and Belgium to commemorate the dead of the whole of the Empire has received the consideration of the Imperial War Graves Commission, which has decided to erect such tablets of Hopton Wood stone, with
